

Overview

Alpha Data is committed to the long-term supply of products where it is possible and viable to do so.

Alpha Data PMC products with PCI bus have been superseded by XMC products with the higher performance PCIE interface. As a result, there has been no customer demand for the products listed below for over two years. This lack of customer demand and widespread component obsolescence issues mean that the products have reached End of Life (EOL).

Production will be discontinued from the end of April 2024
